RECLAMATION AND INDUSTRIALIZATION PROJECTS IN VOJVODINA

The "Sonja Marinkovic" State Farm in the Vojvodina has pledged itself to transform the Vrsacki Ritovi (Vrsac Marshes) into a fertile agricultural area. In 1947 the first settlement in Vrsacki Ritovi was established. Today the settlement consists of 50 housing projects for workers, six large barns, three storehouses, three granaries with a capacity of 25 carloads of corn each, and other auxiliary buildings. The settlement can house 100 families this year, while in 1951 up to 250 families will be able to live here.

A few kilometers from the Vrsacki Ritovi settlement, there is a chicken farm with a capacity of 20,000 chickens, a pig farm with a present capacity of 3,000 to 5,000 pigs, and a duck farm with a capacity of 5,000 ducks.

The plans for new drainage canals in this area, designed to carry water into the Danube-Tisa-Danube Canal, have been drawn up already.

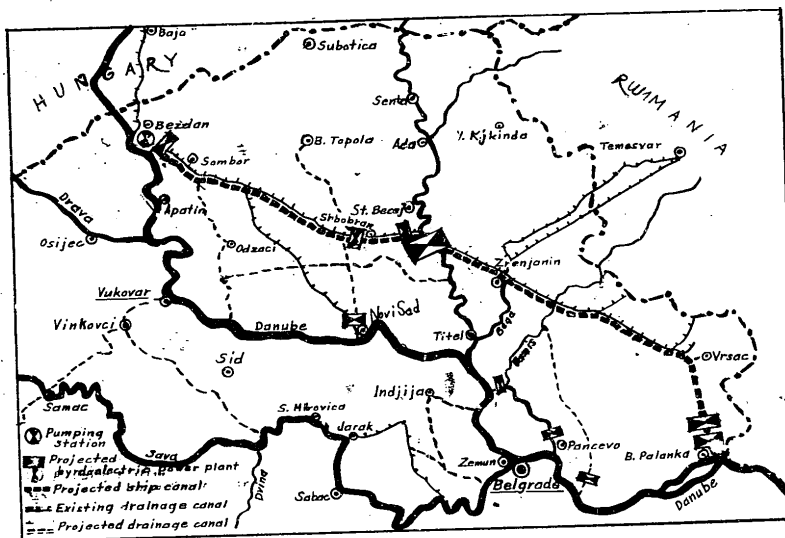

The area is divided into three state farms, the Vrsacki Ritovi, the Margitski Ritovi, and the Vlakovski Ritovi. They will engage chiefly in agriculture and livestock raising.

The following map shows future construction projects in the Vojvodina.
